THE PASSING SHOW

LITTLE BLACK BAG WAS MASCOT FOR THE GIANTS.

That ball players are just as superstitious as in the old days is shown by the action of the Giants on their winning road tour which has just closed. Every day at the beginning of the ninth inning one of the Giants "carried" the game in a bag to the clubhouse.

This started the first day in Pittsburgh. There was a little black bag around the Giants' bench and McGraw said to Pitcher Peritt, "Take that thing to the clubhouse." The Pirates started a rally in the ninth but as Peritt entered the clubhouse their attacks flickered out.

Thereafter it was Peritt's duty in every game, when he was not pitching, to arise from the bench in the ninth and carry the bag across the field. If he happened to be walking across the greenward and the home club started a rally the Giants on the bench would yell to him to hustle. Sometimes when the opposing players were on the bases he would run madly to the dressing room and it is claimed that as soon as he entered the door the rallies stopped. When Peritt was pitching it was Fred Anderson's duty to carry the bag. He was on the job the day the winning streak was broken so he evidently didn't kill the jinx.

Owner Harry Corbett of the Bridgeport club went to Boston today to see Owner Lannin of the Boston Red Sox. He hopes to get a couple of pitchers. He is after Dick McCabe, the youngster who was with Bridgeport two years ago, and was taken by the Red Sox last season after a great record in the New England league.

There is some talk of matching Battling Kunk of South Norwalk and Al Ketchel of this city for the coming show. The Fifth District Republican club is said to be promoting the show.

YANKS LEAVE FOR WEST IN 3RD PLACE

New York, June 2.—As Wild Bill Donovan and his Yankees slipped quietly out of our sight last night to try their best upon the expansive Middle West, they were still firmly entrenched in third place, where they have been for weeks. They missed a grand opportunity to pass the skidding Washington Senators by losing a defeat in the final game of the series with the Athletics at the Polo Grounds yesterday.

"Bullet" Joe Bush pitched for Connie Mack and flashed a game that shut out the Yankees 5 to 0, while his people directed a heavy cannonading at the slender person of Ray Caldwell. Bush pitched his best game of the season, holding the Yankees to four hits. Caldwell cannot be censured for losing, since the Yankees failed to make a run for him; but that does not relieve him of the blame for a poorly pitched game. The Mackmen shelled him for 15 hits. They had men on the bases in every inning and only good fielding kept the score of the opposition down to five runs.

POOR HITTING OUTFIELD HAS HINDERED BRAVES IN FIGHT FOR FLAG

Worcester, June 2.—It is easy enough to account for the poor work of the Braves. They have a weak hitting outfield. This sums up in a few words why the Stallings team is not there with the punch and is losing so regularly lately. Practically every club in the race in both leagues sports at least one hard hitter in the outer works. As a rule the average club carries at least two patrolmen who are there with a punch and capable of breaking up a ball game once in a while.

Of course with Sherry Magee in their lineup the Braves would look like another club. Without him the Braves appear like a ship without a rudder. Collins, who is playing regularly, in the left outfield, is a fast man, sure fly killer, and has a good arm, but is weak as a hitter. If he was not the Pirates would not have allowed him to go. Compton has been a disappointment and without him has failed to show any of the hitting form that made him the sensation of the coast last season.

The best proof that a couple of hard hitting outfielders, or even one, makes a big difference with a ball club is easily proven by a glance at the rosters of the clubs that are now up in the fight in the big circuits. The Giants, for instance, have Burns and Robertson, two vicious hitters.

The Phils have their Cravath and a timely puncher in Whitted, the Indians have Speaker, the Senators have Milan. The success of the Cubs in the games they have won to date has been due to the hard hitting of Schulte and Williams, two of the most dangerous sluggers in the old circuit.

There is nothing the matter with Stallings' infield, in fact from a general standpoint it is the class of either league, but there sure is something shy in his outfield. He cannot expect to win a pennant with three lads hitting below the .250 mark.

Harvard Team Hands Shutout to Williams

Cambridge, June 2.—Harvard resumed its winning habit yesterday afternoon, beating Williams by 2 to 0, behind Walter Garritt, who was beaten by Brown on Tuesday. The Crimson was out, making five singles to the visitors' seven safeties. Colledge, with three hits, and Garritt with two did all the Crimson's offensive execution. Both teams played a pretty fielding game, the one misdeed by Williams not counting in the score.

Farmer Want Ads. One Cent a Word or a million dollars. Baseball fans might pray that somebody would give the Bridgeport club a few pitchers who can get the ball over the plate with something on it besides the cover.

Walter Johnson was the victim of fate when he lost that game in Boston yesterday. When a man goes all the way from second on an infield out and wins the game by 1 to 0, as McNally of Boston did, Johnson can justly claim an alibi.

Tommy Downey of this city, is hitting well for Lowell. The club boy is playing first temporarily, because of an injury to Munn, the regular first baseman.

Jimmy Curry made a fine start at the second base job for Bridgeport. The aggressive veteran hit one hit and accepted six chances without an error.

Otto Deininger continues to punish the pitchers. The Bridgeport outfielder blew himself to three hits in Hartford.

Otto Knabe, who acted as manager of the Baltimore Federals, has been given his release by Pittsburgh. He didn't show major league form in his trial at second base.

In their long home stand, the Yankees lost only one series. That was to Cleveland, the Indians taking the only two games played. The Yankees tied Chicago in four games, took one and tied one with Detroit, beat St. Louis two out of five from the Athletics. The complete record was 11 won, eight lost and one tied.

The New Haven team has been making a good showing lately. The Elm City club, outside of pitchers, is not so good as Bridgeport, but is far superior to the locals in that department. Bridgeport also has a better aggregation than Hartford in every department except the box.

GROUNDING STEAMER FLOATED.

St. John, N. F., June 2.—The Norwegian steamer Lyngford, which went ashore yesterday off Holyrood, on St. Mary's Bay, while bound from Baltimore for Christiania, was floated to-day by the coastal steamer Portia. Although first reports indicated that the steamer probably would be a wreck it was found she was making no water when she cleared the shore. Damages to her bow will necessitate overhauling here.

OWNIE BUSH IS BEST SHORTSTOP IN GAME, SAYS HUGHIE JENNINGS

Detroit, Mich., June 1.—Hugh Jennings is hot under the collar. The cause is easily explained. Recently several baseball experts sent out stories about the classy shortstops in the American and National leagues and failed to make mention of Ownie Bush, the great little Detroit short fielder, among the chosen few. Hughie says they are off their pins. "Bush is the greatest shortstop in the game today, bar none," says Jennings. "He covers more ground than any other man in the position, and for a man with a noodle show me one that is his superior. There isn't any," says the Tigers' fiery leader. "He pulls off more stuff in his position than half the other short fielders put together. Barry is great, and so is Bancroft, but Bush is their superior."

ENVER PASHA.

Enver Pasha, the Young Turk military leader who was largely responsible for Turkey's alliance with the Central Empires, has played a big part in the conduct of Ottoman affairs ever since the downfall of Abdul Hamid. On several occasions Enver has been reported assassinated or wounded, but these reports have always proved to be groundless. Early this year he made a tour of inspection of the Asiatic territory of the Turks, traveling as far as Medina and visiting Syria, Palestine, Arabia and Mesopotamia. It has been alleged that Enver was responsible for the death of the Turkish Crown Prince, who was from the first bitterly opposed to any German alliance, and who favored the cause of the Allies. Enver has a number of wives, but his chief spouse is the Princess Nadide Sultana, daughter of the late Prince Suleiman. Enver's father was a servant of his wife's father, one of his tasks being that of "official taster," the Prince requiring him to taste of the contents of each dish placed before him so as to be assured that the food was not poisoned. Enver's father was a favorite of the Prince, and it was through the latter's influence that Enver was admitted to the military college, and thus began the career which has made him the real ruler of Turkey. Princess Nadide was bitterly opposed to marriage with the son of a servant, but Enver's influence over the weak Mehmed V. was so strong that the young woman was forced into the abhorrent alliance and carried away to Enver's harem very much against her will. The marriage was celebrated in 1914, only a short time before the outbreak of the European war.

"SEVENTY-FIVES" AND AMBULANCE IN BAZAAR FOR ALLIED WAR RELIEF

For the relief of war sufferers in the allied countries the societies formed for such relief have arranged for a bazaar in New York city, in the Grand Central palace, beginning June 3. The French government has lent its aid by sending a war exhibit, two of the items in which are seen in the accompanying pictures. No. 1 is part of a display of field guns damaged in the war; No. 2 is one of the American ambulances damaged in the work which has won much praise in France. Included in the French government's exhibit are several of the famous 75 millimeter guns. No. 3 is little Miss Marie Benrichard, two and one-half years old, who was selected to sell bazaar tickets at the corner of Forty-second street and Broadway, one of New York's busiest spots.
